

GOING TO URGE HIGHER TARIFF ON PIMA COTTON

Dwight B. Heard Leaves
For Washington To Plead For More Just Protection For Growers
Of Long Staple

Representing the Arizona Cotton Growers' association and the Phoenix chamber of commerce, Dwight B. Heard left last night for Washington, D. C. where he will appear before congressional committees, using every effort to have included in the emergency tariff bill a more just protection for the long-staple cotton growers than the 7-cent provision now decided upon.

While it is realized by these organizations that they are rather late to be assured of success in increasing the 7-cent protection, yet they feel that this protection is so inadequate and so unjust that nothing should be left undone that might possibly aid them that this final effort is to be made to increase materially this amount.

It was at the insistent urging of the Arizona cotton growers and the chamber of commerce that Mr. Heard left for Washington on this mission. The matter of increasing materially the amount of protection to the long-staple growers is a vital one, as every cent added to the protective tariff means so much to this valley.

After completing his work in Washington, Mr. Heard will go to Greensboro, N. C., to attend the annual meeting of the United States Good Roads association, with which is affiliated the Bankhead National highway. At this convention Mr. Heard will use every effort to bring the 1923 Bankhead highway convention to Phoenix.

Before his return to Phoenix, Mr. Heard will go to New York city to be in attendance at the annual meeting of the Associated Press, of which The Republican is a member. He also will attend the annual meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers' association. The Republican being also a member of that association. This meeting will be held the last week in April.

POOR CONDITION OF APACHE TRAIL CAUSES DECREASE IN TRAVEL

That the bad condition of the Apache trail, which has been followed by the curtailment or rather the complete stopping of all advertising concerning it, has brought about a great lessening in the amount of travel over what is perhaps the finest scenic highway in the United States, was the opinion voiced yesterday by Harry Welch, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Many inquiries concerning the trail and its condition are received at the chamber's information desk. Secretary Welch said, but it is impossible from those queries to ascertain the number of persons who are actually making the trip. It is almost certain, however, that the refusal of the railroads to mention the Apache trail is their advertising has had an adverse effect upon travel over it, and this refusal to publish its wonders comes only from the fact that "tourists who have taken the trip have complained so loudly about the road that the companies have been forced to omit mention of it in their literature."

There is a particularly rough stretch between Goldfield and Fish Creek. It was said at the chamber of commerce yesterday, and this strip is about 30 miles long, enough to deter the most hardened motorist from taking a trip which is primarily a journey of pleasure. The stage companies, it is said, are doing a little business over the highway, but not nearly as much as would be the case

Phoenix High School Band Which Gives Concert Tonight For Fund To Attend University Week

BENEFIT CONCERT THIS EVENING BY HIGH SCHOOL BAND

In order that the Phoenix Union High school band, which consists of more than 40 pieces, may attend the festivities at Tucson during university week, April 27 to 30, a band concert will be given in the auditorium of the high school this evening. The concert will be under the direction of Peter A. Venne, recognized as the most capable band leader in the state. The concert this evening will be the fourth since the organization of the band in 1918.

Should the receipts from this concert be sufficiently large to enable the boys to make the trip, a concert will be given at Tucson on May 1. Numbers in both concerts will consist of semi-classical as well as the popular jazz strains. The band can play both types of music equally well, Mr. Venne says.

PETER A. VENNE

Since the organization of the Phoenix Union High school band rapid progress has been made. Mr. Venne's previous experience in musical training is said to be partly the reason for the rapid advancement. His first practical work began when he started playing in the North Dakota Chautauqua in 1899. From that band he went to the Haskell Institute at Lawrence, Kansas, for special training in music from Dennison Wheelock, formerly leader of the famous Carlisle band. Mr. Venne played under his leadership at Denver, Colorado, in 1902, and at the World's Fair at St. Louis in 1904.

Mr. Venne made his debut in Arizona as instructor of the Fort Mohave band. In 1906 he was transferred to the Phoenix Indian school as band instructor. He organized a band of 50 members, composed of pupils and graduates of the Indian school, in 1909 which he took to Los Angeles to the Elks grand lodge meeting. The band was said to be the greatest attraction at the big meeting. The reputation made in 1909 resulted in a second trip to Los Angeles in 1912 with the Shriners.

In 1918 Mr. Venne was placed in charge of the Phoenix Union High school band which was at that time composed of several cornets and trombones. From that nucleus the present band of 40 pieces was formed.

PHOENIX HIGH TO SEND FULL TEAMS TO TUCSON MEET

Phoenix union high school will send complete teams, educational as well as athletic, to represent the school at the annual University week program at Tucson, April 28-30, Daniel F. Jantzen, principal, announced yesterday. There is also a probability that the school band will make the trip, he said.

Because of the great expense attached to the customary four-day program, university officials have decided to conduct all contests in a two-day meet this year, a bulletin received from Tucson said. This means that there will be two and three events running concurrently, it was explained.

Although the time is drawing close, only one contestant so far has been selected to represent the school in the annual state-wide interscholastic competition. Harold Marks has been definitely decided upon as the Phoenix entrant in the state oratorical contest, but even this choice hinges upon decisions of the university officials. It was announced. Copies of his oration were forwarded to Tucson some time ago. All state entries in the oratorical contest forward copies of their orations to the university, from which the best is selected to compete in the final competition at Tucson University week. As yet no report has been received here either accepting or rejecting Marks as one of the six successful contestants.

Benefit Concert Tonight
Members of the high school band will give a benefit concert tonight. Proceeds of the concert will be used to defray the band's expenses on the trip to Tucson. Should the event prove a complete failure, there is little probability that the musicians would make the trip, it was said yesterday.

At least two contestants for each event will be sent from Phoenix to participate. Principal Jantzen announced. In addition to the track squad, the school will send girls' and boys' tennis teams as well as entrants for the various educational contests.

The baseball team also is planning to make the trip, although it has not yet won the valley interscholastic title. The winner of the valley honors will go to Tucson to compete with other high school sectional winners for the state championship. Phoenix high, at present, has the edge in the valley race but it must win its next game from Glendale to be assured of victory.

NEW GROCERY STORE ON NORTH CENTRAL

Announcement of the opening of a new grocery store in Phoenix was made yesterday by G. Frank Baker and J. B. Bayless, the proprietors. The new concern will be located at 556-558 North Central avenue and will be known as the "Help Yourself" grocery.

Mr. Bayless is proprietor of several grocery stores here and is well-known arrival from Kansas. He also has had wide experience in the business. The new grocery, it was announced, will handle a regular line of groceries, and fruit and vegetables. A meat market will be operated in connection. The proprietors announced they would pay the highest market prices for their eggs and produce.

ARIZONA STUDENT OF MUSIC TO STUDY AT FRENCH SCHOOL

An Arizona student of music will have the opportunity of winning one of the scholarships offered to American music students by the French Ministry des Beaux Arts, according to information received yesterday by Governor Thomas E. Campbell.

Two hundred and fifty scholarships will be available in the United States and Arizona's quota of students is one. It is believed that applications will pour in from every section of the state from those who are eager to secure the scholarship for the summer term at the Fontainebleau School of Music for Americans. The course covered is similar to that of the famous Conservatoire de Paris and is directed by the same teachers.

Those who make application must have the indorsement of the governor or a state official and must be recommended by the director of a school of music or teacher of repute. The course will begin on June 23 and will end September 25. The students will secure passage at reduced rates and while in France will be housed in the palace of Fontainebleau.

"The government in France in offering the scholarships is following the Rhodes scholarship plan."

"The government of France, realizing what the scholarship system did for the allies during the war, is now anxious to develop the principle, offering to the musical students of America the advantages of the Conservatoire de la Musique course at Fontainebleau," is the reason set forth by France in the letter to the governor.

FIRE PREVENTION EXPERT HERE TODAY

J. W. Stevens, chief of the fire prevention bureau of the Pacific coast and a recognized authority on matters pertaining to fire prevention, will be a Phoenix visitor today. During the morning hours Mr. Stevens will talk to school children of the city, urging the greatest caution in the use of matches and inflammable materials. ## WANT MOVIES OF ARIZONA LIFE TO SHOW IMMIGRANTS

Governor Thomas E. Campbell yesterday referred to Harry Welch, secretary of the chamber of commerce, a letter which he had received from George J. Zebrung, director of the motion picture bureau of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A., and in which Zebrung asked for motion picture films of the rural life of Arizona for presentation before the immigrants at Ellis Island. The letter follows in full:

"At the request of Commissioner Wallace, in charge of the Ellis Island immigration station, the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. has assumed the responsibility of providing motion picture shows for the temporarily detained immigrants three nights a week.

"We believe that the immigrants should be informed of the wonderful opportunities in the rural life throughout the country and that the presenting of pictures of the opportunities afforded in our state will be the incentive for emigration to the rural districts and will tend to decrease the migration to the cities, where it is an added burden to consumption without production and greatly increases the already excessive demand for food and shelter in those districts. We are taking the liberty of addressing your department of agriculture, requesting that they forward at once to the industrial department's motion picture bureau at 71 West Twenty-third street, New York city, a copy of any theater standard width motion picture film which will be valuable in this program.

"We trust that it will meet with your approval and that the cooperation of your department of agriculture in getting this information before these coming Americans."

Two women were among those who passed the examination conducted by the state board of pharmacy Wednesday and Thursday, according to the announcement made at the close of the two days' session yesterday. The women are Helen Schoemaker of Tucson and Martha Blanchard of Los Angeles. Six others passed the examination, while seven were admitted as registered pharmacists under the reciprocity rule and one under the 20 years connection with a pharmacy policy. Five others made application, but their papers were not complete, so that action was deferred.

Those who passed the examination included Martha Blanchard, Los Angeles; Helen Schoemaker, Tucson; Harry J. Ellen, Abilene; Daniel Espinoza, Miami; J. M. Robinson, El Paso; Gus Obergfels, Los Angeles; Carl J. Rizzo, Los Angeles; Don V. Stretten, Los Angeles. Those licensed from other states were John A. Martin, now located in Globe; E. L. ## CALLS ATTENTION OF BAKERS TO LAW CONCERNING BREAD

Following receipt of complaints by purchasers of bread that loaves sold as one pound loaves were found to be marked "15 ounces," and that loaves sold as 20-ounce loaves were found to be marked "18 ounces average," State Inspector Raymond Dyas of the weights and measures department has called attention of bakers to the state law covering the marking of the true weight of the loaves on label or wrapper.

"The law is specific," said Inspector Dyas, "and provides that the correct net weight of the loaf must be marked on label or wrapper, and also makes it a misdemeanor to represent bread of any other commodity, as weighing more than it actually does weigh, net."

A loaf of bread marked 15 ounces must be sold as weighing 15 ounces and no more or less. Nor can a loaf of bread marked "18 ounces average" be sold as weighing 20 ounces, even though it may actually weigh 20 ounces. In other words, the bread must be sold as weighing exactly the amount marked on label or wrapper, and the law providing for the marking of the true net weight on label or wrapper, together with the manufacturer's name is to be enforced by this department and all city sealers of weights and measures.

An allowance of 5 per cent in weight for shrinkage is made on all loaves of bread over one day old, and 10 per cent on all loaves over two days old, added Inspector Dyas, provided the age of the bread be also marked on label or wrapper. Bread more than three days old must be marked and sold as "stale bread."
